Here is where to find books by call number:

- 001-229: In the Southwest Stacks near Room 102, the Tony Smart Classroom
- 230-289: In the Periodical Room next to the library circulation desk
- 290-600: On the top floor of the library. Turn left at the top of the stairs
- 700-800: On the ground floor of the library beside the Buhl entrance.
- 900-999: On the main floor of the library by the elevator

Books in the FL Collection are on three day checkout, and there’s a limit of two books out at a time. There are about 120 or more other students who will be using these books for the same papers, so please return them promptly.

- You don’t need to read the whole book. Find a couple of chapters that you like and photocopy them ($0.10 in the library), then read them over more carefully.

- If you don’t find anything there that you can work with, ask one of the librarians help you: John Thompson (jthomps@waynesburg.edu) or Richard Blake (rblake@waynesburg.edu).

- There are other books in the library besides these. Go to the online catalog at pamug.iii.com/search~S10, select “LC Subject” from the dropdown menu that reads “Keyword,” and type in “faith and learning.” You’ll see a list of books arranged by subject. Not all of these are in the faith and learning collection--look carefully at the “Location” and the “Status” boxes.

For other resources, go to the Library’s website. You can also find other information if you click on the “Faith and Learning” tab in the middle.
